

PACIFIC CREST

i n d u s t r i e s

As a Washington state manufacturer serving the western region for nearly 20 years, we would like to share another side of our company.

We are proud of our products, and think our cabinets basically speak for themselves. Our selections, functionality, and craftsmanship provide design solutions with incredible value. But it is the values we practice daily that we believe help make us a better cabinet company.

You see, at Pacific Crest Industries, we really build more than just cabinets.

We build core values of integrity and respect. We believe our word is our bond and treat our employees, vendors and customers with dignity and honor.

We build trust and opportunity by sustaining a culture of growth that allows for personal and professional advancement.

We build loyalty. It's our mission to build loyal customers while cultivating a caring and profitable work environment for our employees.

We build responsibly; we are stewards of our environment. We want to make sure more than just our cabinets last.

- We are certified through the Environmental Stewardship Program of the KCMA, demonstrating our compliance to low emission and sustainability requirements.
 - Our raw materials come from sources focused on forest management and sustainability.
 - Our manufacturing and waste management processes are well within the stringent requirements set by the KCMA Environmental Stewardship Program.
 - Our finishing processes easily comply with the restrictions and conditions dictated by the Puget Sound Clean Air Agency.
 - We offer woods certified by sustainable forestry programs such as FSC & SFI.
- (visit our web site for more information on our environmental stewardship)

We build relationships. As a responsible builder of fine cabinetry, we have also become stewards of our community, locally and beyond. We participate in local outreach programs as well as international programs such as Eagles Wings Youth Camp in Latvia, and Agros International.

Pacific Crest is not just driven by profits, but by values that encourage us to help make the world a better place.
